This is textbook Gevrey with a sultry nose of forest floor and damp tree bark—certainly influenced by the 30% whole cluster use, down from the usual 80-100%—and lots of properly-ripe blackberry fruit. Grosgrain tannins coat the robust palate and tingly acidity—this sits right at the opening into the back valley—delivers uplifting energy through the distinguished finish.

93Domaine Heresztyn-Mazzini 2024 Gevrey-Chambertin PC*La Perrière

These 45-year-old vines face Mazis-Chambertin, not a bad view. This vintage they've produced an alluring, toothsome wine with sweet tannins and gentle cross-palate tension. Blackberries, cherry compote and savory spice flow into a solid finish. No whole cluster this year.

93Domaine Heresztyn-Mazzini 2024 Gevrey-Chambertin PC*Les Goulots

Hailing from Brochon, where this sits high on the slope in the chilly influence of the Combe aux Moines, this is eye-opening with its rapier-edge of acidity, finessed tannins and delicate blackcurrants and blueberries. There are more lifted fruit notes this year and fewer influences of underbrush and forest scents given there is no whole cluster.

93Domaine Heresztyn-Mazzini 2024 Morey-St-Denis PC Les Millandes

There is more fruit on the nose here than with the Gevreys: mulberries, bramble and black plums soar from the glass. Also in contrast to the Gevreys, the tannins are quite grippy and even further accented by the marked acidity. This will need several years to calm down but shows lovely promise. This saw about 30% whole cluster.

95Domaine Heresztyn-Mazzini 2024 Clos St-Denis GC

The 40% whole cluster is notable on the nose with scents of dried flowers, new leather and savory spice. The sappy palate offers plums, black cherries and sloe liqueur. Soigné tannins and a bright sparkle of freshness keep this medium-bodied wine feeling lighter and lifted. These are 40-year-old vines that sit across the way from Domaine Ponsot at the very top of the cru.
